Project Update:

Advancing Innovation in VET for a Greener, More Inclusive Europe

The ECOIn.Lub project continues to make strong strides in reshaping vocational education and training (VET) through sustainability, social inclusion, and digital transformation. Bringing together partners from Portugal, Finland, Bulgaria, Turkey, and the Netherlands, ECOIn.Lub is developing practical tools and resources to equip learners and educators with the competencies needed for a circular and socially responsible economy.

❖ What's in Development?

❖ Digital Educational Games

Designed to make sustainability and entrepreneurship engaging and accessible for VET learners.

❖ Open Educational Resources (OERs)

Free, multilingual resources for educators and students focused on inclusive, green teaching practices.

❖ Digital Hub & Virtual Labs

An interactive online platform to host learning materials, facilitate cross-border collaboration, and serve as a central space for project results.

💡 Spotlight: First International Training in Lahti, Finland

From March 24–27, 2025, the project successfully hosted its first international training in Lahti, Finland. Educators, trainers, and project partners came together for four days of collaboration, knowledge exchange, and practical learning.

Key highlights:

- 👉 World Café workshops on circular economy, eco-entrepreneurship, and social innovation
- 🎮 Brainstorming sessions for future digital educational games
- 🏢 Site visits to NP Textiles and Patina Recycling Centre
- 🧠 Collaborative work on defining the first Open Educational Resources (OERs)

This training was a pivotal step in shaping the content and direction of ECOIn.Lub's upcoming educational outputs.

We will continue to share updates, milestones, and key developments in upcoming newsletters. Follow us as we work together to build a greener, more inclusive, and innovative future for vocational education and training.
